EMPLOYER: Here Design

POSITION: Senior Designer

TYPE: Permanent

HOURS: Full Time

DESIGN DISCIPLINES: Branding, Packaging, Print, Books, Digital

SALARY: Competitive

Here Design is a company of thinkers, writers, designers and makers working together to create useful and beautiful things. We are looking for a highly creative designer with extensive branding and packaging experience to join our multi-disciplinary team in our bright and lively studio by London Fields.

This unique position requires a creative problem solver who is passionate about design while being flexible, adaptable and organised. We are deliberately non-specialist, working on a diverse range of projects across a wide range of disciplines. The right candidate will be able to respond equally well to any type of creative challenge and be driven to create inspiring design solutions that are based on thoughtful and powerful ideas.

The Senior Designer will be responsible for ensuring that their creative concepts, designs and artwork are completed on brief, on budget and on time, with the support of the project managing team. They should have a meticulous eye for detail and a solid understanding of business imperatives. They will work closely with, and support the Design Associates and Creative Partners and will be required to inspire and mentor junior designers to help them develop their creative skills.

Our new Senior Designer will have comprehensive knowledge of the design process and key production processes along with a curiosity to learn about new production techniques and materials.

- 5+ years experience
- Exceptional creative talent
- Ability to thrive in a fast-paced environment
- Support and direct other team members to deliver creative solutions
- Develop strong relationships with clients, management and design teams
- Excellent presentation skills (internally and to clients)
- Must be a detail oriented problem solver
- Strong organisational and time management skills
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Solid understanding of full production processes
